Rev. John Moeller

Rev. John Moeller is on our front cover this month. John is Executive Director of MUST Ministries. John has served as MUST's Executive Director since 2001 and through his vision has helped MUST grow into one of Georgia's premier non-profit organizations. MUST Ministries is a faith-based organization which for thirty-seven years has been dedicated to providing services to persons and families in crisis. From its "Kids Meals on Wheels" program, to its food pantry to its homeless shelter, MUST is a place where people have been coming together to help those in need. For more information about MUST Ministries, visit www.mustministries.org.

"Prices are up all around food and gas, people have to pay more for these. There is less money left to buy food," shares John. "We are seeing people who didn't think they would have to come in, but had to. Food is desperately needed and much appreciated! The Food Pantry is still low on food this summer. Please consider doing a neighborhood or workplace food drive!" says John.

John lives in the Weatherstone subdivision with his wife, Laurie and his children: Anna Kate, 6; and, Sara, 3. He enjoys the "wonderful people and strong faith community" in East Cobb.
